Creative Junction FAQs

updated 18/11/2026

Who can apply?

We want Creative Junction to reflect the diversity of the creative landscape. We welcome people at different career stages and working across different art forms and approaches, including commercial practice, craft and public engagement.

What will group members do?

Members will take part in four workshops to share their experience and ideas about the future studios, how they might operate and the creative activities they could support.

How much time will I need to commit?

The commitment is to four in-person workshops between January and April 2027. Each workshop will be 2 hours.

Will attending an introductory session or joining Creative Junction improve my chances of getting a studio?

No. Taking part in an introductory session or Creative Junction workshops will not give anyone preferential treatment or improve their chances of being offered a studio. The studio application process will be separate.

How will I be able to apply for a studio?

The studio application process, including the terms and criteria, has not yet been decided. The Creative Junction workshops will help inform this work. We will publish the process when it is confirmed.

What is the timeline for Creative Junction and the wider station project?

Creative Junction workshops are planned for January to April 2027. The wider project timetable currently anticipates that studio spaces will be advertised in spring to early summer 2027, with the base build planned for June to July and a soft opening in September.

How do I get to the workshop venue?

The workshops are planned to take place at Tilbury Riverside Station, Station Approach, Tilbury, RM18 7NJ. The nearest railway station is Tilbury Town, which is served by c2c trains. From Tilbury Town, Ensignbus route 99 runs to Tilbury Ferry & LIC Terminal, near the venue. Taxis are also available at Tilbury Town station.

If you are driving, there is some parking space available [confirm]

Can I ask for access support?

Please tell us about any access requirements so we can discuss how to support your participation. Contact info@creativeestuary.com and put “Creative Junction” in the subject line.

What happens to the ideas shared in the workshops?

The workshops will help inform the development of the creative production spaces and their future activities. The project team will consider the group’s ideas alongside the practical requirements of the project; it may not be possible to take forward every suggestion.
